

NUGGET

I've been up here for many a year
In the world that never grows
Speeding around in a void with no sound
And now I'm feeling quite queer.

Its getting quite hot, I'm starting to spin
And falling to earth to follow my kin
I hit this world with a mighty sound
And slowly sink into the ground.

The years go by they come and go
A bit more heat may help me grow
But time it waits for no one
And people walk the land

They bring with them tools galore
And mighty machines that bore
They dig and poke and swish there pans
And now I'm in there hands.

I hear a sudden shout, its nugget
Now I know my name
I'm all dressed in yellow
And this will bring me fame

Now I am here for all to see
And I,m a beautiful sight
And all of this is down to me
And my friend the meteorite.
